

The Electrical Association of Philadelphia

presents

2014 NEC Change

Friday, January 18, 2019

Are You Ready?

Pennsylvania has finally advanced from the 2008 NEC. As of October 1, 2018, Pennsylvania has been using the 2014 NEC as the enforcement document for electrical projects in the public domain.

About the class: This one-day class will educate contractors on what NEC changes have recently been enforced for work being conducted in Pennsylvania. With a focus on the 2014 NEC, our instructor will also cover several of the 2011 NEC changes since Pennsylvania has jumped two codes ahead.

Why you should attend: Attendees will learn what electrical equipment must be installed and what is the correct way to do it. Receive answers to your questions and walk away with ways to save time, money, and your sanity!
